Lessons learned

- What did we learn from other countries?
- Good to see the compass works very well in different countries and with different client groups (students, adults)
- Many different and creative ways of using the compass
- New information that in the Netherlands strongly linked with the curriculum

Way forward

- How do we want to take steps forward with the career compass in our own country?
- Digitalizing the compass for use in online career services
- Different language versions that we can share with other countries
- Web based trainings for countries that are interested in starting to use the compass
- Updating the method compendium for different uses of the compass (compiled in 2014), including examples from other countries

Next steps

- What do we need to take next step(s)?
- Time!
- Finding a good partner for working on digital solutions and going forward from there
- For updating the method compendium it would be good to find partners to also learn about methods used in other countries – exchange of practices (especially for use with clients with special needs)
